

PEOPLE AMONG PEOPLE
LEONID BERGOLTSEV - PHOTOGRAPHER

"This volume presents to American readers the work of one of the best Russian photographers of the Soviet period, who has preserved for us precious insights into the people, society, and politics of the second half of the twentieth century. But it is not only a remarkable collection of photojournalism from the recent past; it also contains many images of high artistic quality that stand on their own as esthetic creations."

Jack F. Matlock, Jr.

PEOPLE AMONG PEOPLE, Leonid Bergoltsev - Photographer, is a collection of 174 photographs by Leonid Bergoltsev. The photographs are titled and the photographer has provided unique descriptions of many of the instants he captured. Some of the people among people are well known: Van Cliburn performing in the former Soviet Union; a pensive John Steinbeck; Mikhail Gorbachov, Yevgeniy Yevtushenko, Lev Landau; Boris Yeltsyn; various cosmonauts; Marshal Busyonniy; Averell Harriman, Harrison Salisbury; Marian Anderson; King Mohamed Zahir Shakh of Afganistan; Simone Signoret; Pope John-Paul, for example. Many other of the "people" are men, women and children from around the world. These photographs, unique in perspective and mood, have evoked strong emotional responses from nearly everyone who has previewed the work.

The book has two introductions. One is by Jack F Matlock Jr., former Ambassador to the USSR, and the other is by photographer and litterateur, Yuri Krivonosov, who has known Leonid for most of his professional life. Of very special interest is a Memoir written by Leonid Bergoltsev.

This cloth-bound volume was edited by Ed Schwartzreich and published as a limited edition of only 160 copies by ImageRe: Digital Works in 2008. ISBN 978-0-9816850-0-7.
